HOW TO "DO" A CLASSICAL BALLET BUN

1. Brush through hair thoroughly. Leave no tangles.
2. Mist hair with water, using spray bottle until hair is damp.
3. Spray lightly with hair spray. If hair is different lengths or has extra curl, rub hair gel in palms of hands and smooth over hair evenly. Use as much as needed for extra hold.
4. Brush all hair smooth to the back of the head just below the crown in line with the cheek bones and ears. Secure with a braided elastic (see step 4 illustration).
5. Use contour clips and/or stay tight barrettes to secure hair that gel and ponytail holder will not hold.
6. Divide ponytail into two sections (3 if hair is extremely thick) (see step 6 illustration).
7. Twist section A of ponytail clockwise (see step 7 illustration).
8. Keep section A twisted as you wrap it clockwise around braided elastic lightly securing as you go with hair pins. (Be sure section A is touching scalp as you pin) (See step 8 illustration).
9. Twist section B clockwise (see step 9 illustration).
10. Keep it twisted as you wrap it clockwise around (not on top of section A). Make sure section B is also touching the scalp pinning as you wrap (see step 10 illustration).
11. Hair should be in a rough bun by now. Do not worry with ends that may stick out at this point, the hair net will catch these (see step 11 illustration).
12. Place hair-net over bun, twisted net once and place over bun again. Repeat this process as many times as you can. Take excess net that won't cross back over bun, twist it and pin it under the edge of the bun.
13. Insert hair pins beginning on one side and continue clockwise all the way around the bun. Insert pins at an angle, close to the scalp so they will lock. (See illustration).
14. Spray all hair and bun. Immediately brush hair toward bun and use your hand while spray is wet to catch loose ends to give hair a smooth look. (Smooth from forehead back to bun and from nape of neck up to bun etc.)
15. Spray all well with hair spray.
